

AMERICAN PRISONERS
TAKEN BY GERMANSBerlin Reports Captures Result
of Reconnoitering Thrust

No Announcement Received at Washington Regarding Capture from General Pershing—Cadorna Rejoins Enemy Attempts to Cross Tagliamento.

American prisoners have been taken by the Germans. Berlin announced this briefly today, stating that the captures were the result of a reconnoitering thrust at the Rhine-Marne canal which crosses the French from near the German border twenty miles northeast of Lunenburg. No announcement regarding the captures had been received at Washington from General Pershing at a late hour.

British naval operations were carried successfully into the Cattegat, where a German auxiliary cruiser armed with six inch guns and ten armed German patrol craft were destroyed without losses to the British. News despatches from Copenhagen gave details of the incident and announced the arrival of survivors from the German raider on Danish soil. British destroyers it is stated accomplished this destructive work. Other news despatches from the Danish capital report also the destruction of the German auxiliary cruiser Marie by British destroyers, thirty members of the cruiser's crew being killed and a number wounded.

This movement was obviously forced by the recent success of the French in their drive southwest of Laon, which gave them enfilading positions for their guns and made a large section of the German lines untenable.

Standing on the line of the Tagliamento, General Cadorna has so far been able to hold intact his north and south front along the river despite several attempts by the Austro-German invaders of northern Italy to effect a crossing. It is pointed out that the new Italian front, although the enforced retirement to it was marked by heavy losses in men and material, affords the strategic advantage of being straighter and shorter than the old line and therefore theoretically is easier to defend.

With the known strong concentration of Austrian and German forces against the Italians, however, there exists the menace to this line of a flanking thrust from the north. Close attention therefore is being paid to the Trentino front whence a heavy blow is not an unlikely development provided the Teutonic intention is to pursue the campaign in Italy beyond the stage already reached.

The Paris account of the movement shows the German retirement to have extended along a thirteen mile front from the Oise-Aisne Canal to Corbigny. The crown prince withdrew his lines a maximum distance of a mile to the north bank of the Aisne commanding the approaches to the fortress of Laon, the keystone of the German line in this region.

Confirmation Still Lacking
Washington, Nov. 3.—Berlin's latest announcement today that "North American" soldiers had been captured by German patrols on the Rhine-Marne canal on the French front, brought the American people a step nearer to the heart of the great struggle.

There was no doubt here that the men referred to were members of General Pershing's force undergoing dual training with French regiments in front line trenches. Confirmation from General Pershing was lacking, but later he will transmit the names of any men missing and this may furnish some light.

If, as assumed, a small scouting party was surprised by a German patrol in No Man's Land and all captured, details of the incident may never be fully told since only captives and captives would know what happened in the encounter under cover of darkness.

This is the first report received here of the capture of any members of the American expeditionary forces but a number of naval gunners taken from American armed ships sunk by submarines and civilian members of the crews of other ships are held in German prison camps.

Night patrolling is a vital important part of the final training of the American forces as it is upon these patrols that the commanding officers rely for information on the enemy's front line. Every night the scouts creep out with faces blacked against the keen vision of enemy lookouts and a swift deadly spurt from a machine gun. They go creeping across the shell torn ground up to the enemy's entanglements, crawling and listening, dropping flat when a flare breaks out in the air above them, sometimes lying absolutely still for hours while rifles and machine guns hammer above them. Not a night passes on many parts of the line but patrol encounter each other. Sometimes it results in firing, but that is seldom, for the menace of the opposing trench lines with rifles, machine guns and star-rocket ready to burst out at the slightest hint of danger hangs over friend and foe alike.

Usually one patrol discovers the other and stalks it stealthily. A time comes when a surprise attack can be made. It is swift, silent hand to hand work and rarely is a shot fired. The victor carries off his prisoners and when morning comes a report goes back on the other side of the line that a patrol of so many men is missing. That is all that is known.

Officers here believed that this was what happened on the French-American front. Had there been any firing or had members of the patrol

COMMENTS MADE ON KERENSKY'S INTERVIEW

Petrograd Correspondent Says Statement Seems to Have Been Taken Too Seriously In Some Quarters.

London, Nov. 3.—Most of the muckraking papers picked Premier Kerensky's interview with the Associated Press yesterday, but the comment is not general. The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, who is now in London, writes:

"Premier Kerensky's statement seems to have been taken a little too seriously in some quarters. It even has been construed as a hint that Russia is toying with the idea of a separate peace. This theory should not be allowed to establish itself. "Probably all Kerensky wished this to indicate facts familiar to close students of Russia for some time, and they are such as to arouse sympathy rather than suspicion."

The Daily Express makes a similar plea and says that no statesman ever faced more appalling difficulties than those that daily confront Premier Kerensky. It admits that Russia bore the burden of the first months of the war and that the invasion of East Prussia probably saved France from being overrun. The Express maintains that all Britain has been able to do to help Russia has been done willingly and she will do the utmost in the future to help Russia establish her freedom.

The Graphic says: "We should hate to regard the statements as authentic. They have the ring of propaganda. The newspaper then says that Kerensky 'if he has made such a statement' should be reminded that France and Great Britain have been in the war as long as Russia, but are not yet war weary and do not desire to shirk their responsibilities."

WHEELER ASSAILS
FOOD SLACKERS

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 3.—"Who does not aid in food conservation is a slacker, and a slacker in the home is more despicable than the soldier in the field; who signs the food administration pledge and does not keep it is a hypocrite and who hinders and prevents in conservation is guilty of treason," declared State Food Administrator Harry A. Wheeler in a powerful speech before 2,000 people from all over Central Illinois here this afternoon. The food situation is more serious than most people believe and sacrifices will be necessary. Hogs are 30,000,000 short, the breeders that are to maintain the cattle supply are being slaughtered for meat, so that meat famine is a possibility, and there is less wheat in the country than ever before in its history. Sugar is as scarce, he said.

He urged all to sign the Hoover pledge cards during the campaign for signatures this week and next, declaring that the men were not alone called, but that all are called to the colors, to serve at home as well as abroad. Money, and men together, he declared could not win the war, but food, money and men together are necessary.

He closed by declaring: "We are not sacrificing by giving up that which costs us nothing. We must make food conservation real. We must make our sacrifice real by giving up of our surplus but of that which is required."

BRITISH DESTROYERS
SINK SIX GERMAN SHIPS

English Get One Raider and Five Armed Trawlers

Effect Another Clean up of German Naval Forces in Scandinavian Waters—Raider Was Disguised as Neutral Merchantman and Carried Deck Load of Casks.

Copenhagen, Nov. 3.—The Crocodile, a German raider and five German armed trawlers were sunk yesterday in the Skagerak, an arm of the North Sea between Norway and Denmark by British destroyers which thus effected another clean up of German naval forces in Scandinavian waters. The Crocodile was a new ship of nearly 1,000 tons and carried a crew of 100 men.

Two Danish steamers that witnessed the engagement arrived tonight with twenty one survivors of the crew of the Crocodile. The fate of the remainder of the Crocodile's crew and the crews of the trawlers is not known. One of the Danish sailors gave the following version of the incident:

"Thursday night at 10 o'clock torpedo boats of undetermined nationality were passed by the steamer on which the narrator was seaman. At eight o'clock this morning cannonading was heard. Shortly afterward British destroyers steamed by bound westward. A little while following British destroyers were sighted firing westward at five armed trawlers which were burning fiercely. There were no signs of life on board. All of them sank in sight of the Danes. Fifteen minutes later they passed the Crocodile which was likewise aflame and soon sank.

The steamer cruised about and found a single survivor clinging to a plank and a blood stained empty yawl from the Crocodile. The survivor was too exhausted to give a coherent account of the battle but said that the yawl had contained twenty men, most of them wounded, who had been picked up by another Danish ship. The Crocodile which was a new vessel had been disguised as a neutral merchantman and carried a deck load of casks. She probably was engaged in an attempt to slip thru the British cordon and gain the open sea.

The second Danish steamer arrived soon after the first with the twenty survivors from the yawl. "Vessels Were Displaying no Flag." London, Nov. 3.—According to the Copenhagen correspondent of the Central News the German vessels were displaying no flag. When the British signalled them to show their colors the German cruiser opened fire at the same time breaking out the German ensign. The bodies of many Germans have already been washed ashore at the Swedish coast.

GERMAN SOLDIERS
POORLY PAID

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Germany is putting 14.3 soldiers into the field for the same amount of money which the United States is paying for a single fighting man, according to calculations today of government experts. They said the same general proportion was true also of maintaining the armies in the field, or in other words, America must raise $14.30 where the enemy nations raise only $1 for the purpose of carrying on the war.

The difference was said to be due to the higher pay of United States soldiers and the greater cost of supplies in this country.

THE CHANGE IN POSTAGE RATES

Washington, Nov. 3.—The absent-minded man who has been carrying the letter in his pocket that his wife gave him to mail several weeks ago, should not fail to drop it in the box today, for tomorrow it will cost him 50 per cent more for postage. Most persons doubtless regard increased letter mail rates as "some" increase, to use a popular slang phrase. But these persons belong to the younger generation, who have never had experience with any other rate than the two-cent per half-ounce rate which ends today. The older generation can easily recall the day when the three-cent rate prevailed, while many persons still living can look back to the time when they hailed with delight the establishment of three-cent postage as a big reduction over the rates they had been paying.

Three-cent postage was first introduced in 1851, four years after postage stamps first came into general use in the United States. When first introduced the three-cent rate was limited to distances of less than 3,000 miles, and the prepayment of the postage was optional. The three-cent rate prevailed until 1883, when by act of Congress the postage on first-class mail matter was reduced to two cents per half ounce.

While the increase in the letter mail postage is in reality only a return to the rates which prevailed up to 1883, the increase in the postal card rate to two cents is an entire novelty. Since postal cards were first provided for by act of Congress in 1872 they have always sold for one cent.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Regulations governing the handling of foodstuffs under the licensing of manufacturers and dealers were approved by President Wilson today and will be put into operation by the food administration immediately. The principle objects of the rules a food administration statement today sets forth are: To limit the prices charged by every licensee to a reasonable amount over expenses; and to forbid the acquisition of speculative profits from a rising market.

To keep all food commodities moving to the consumer in the direct line as possible and with little delay. To limit as far as practicable contracts for future delivery and to curb dealings in future contracts.

The announcement continued: "Under the food control act in addition to the power to promulgate rules, the president is given broad powers to deal with individual cases. This power will be freely exercised to accomplish the three purposes set out above. If every licensee will make those purposes cardinal principles of his business and obey the law and the regulations he will be free from interference by the government. Violation is cause for revoking any license, as well as subjecting the offender to such criminal penalties as may be prescribed."

investigation to be ordered it is time
for him to resign.

Historic Canton, China, is about
to exchange her walls for an electric tramcar system; quite a startling
announcement in connection with this ancient Far Eastern city. Her wall is six miles in length and contains, it is computed, 421,000 square
yards of brick, 450,000 square yards
of stone, and 1,000,000 cubic yards of earth. What is more, the removal of the wall means the removal of some 5000 houses.

For the first time in its history,
it is said, the United States is now
manufacturing all the enameled utensils used in its household. Many things that formerly were either painted or plated, or made in the rough and boxed in, causing a great deal of unnecessary work for the housekeeper, are now enameled. War makes all things possible.

MEXICANS WANT CORN.

Mexico is appealing to the United States for 100,000,000 bushels of corn and a substantial addition to her gold supply to avert an economic crisis, says State Department officials.
The Mexicans found no opposition to granting permission for the exportation
of corn, tho it has been made clear the corn must not be re-exported
to ports from where it might be taken to Germany. Regarding gold exports the United States is not inclined to let any considerable amount of gold go into Mexico until the Caranza Government is ready to reciprocate with less restricted exportation of Mexican mine products.
It might be well to wait a little time until the faith of the Mexican government has been tested before extending many favors.

RUSSIA WILL NOT QUIT.

Russia is not thinking of quitting
the war. Even Premier Kerensky,
in his pessimistic interview, resembling Elijah's lamentations as he sat under the juniper tree, denied
any intention to quit, says the Glos-sop. The premier has been sorely tried. The strain has been too great for his feeble brain. He has been combating the compactly
organized minority that has dominated Petrograd. Our frequent statements that it is a minority are borne out by the first test at the polls. Reports from 643 town elections show that the noisy Bolsheviks, clamoring
for peace at any price and regardless of the wishes of Russia's allies,
cast a light vote, ranging from 2.2
per cent in the smaller towns to 7 per cent in the larger. The pronounced activity of Paul Milukoff in the preliminary parliament shows
that this veteran friend of order
has decided that the time is ripe
for action.

As for Kerensky's interview itself, it abounds in faults, one being its untruthfulness. Should Germany conclude that it is safe to send troops from the Russian front
to Italy and what is more to the point, should such shift really be safe, the situation would be serious.
The Russian premier's public criticism of the British fleet was hasty.
There was a strategic reason why
Germany was not permitted to seize Danish Islands back of the fleet and fortify them. Russia did make valuable contributions early in the war,
as the premier says, but the worn-out
condition of the masses is due less
to sacrifices of war than to the corruption of the ancient regime and the folly of the new. Russian sacrifices in the interest of the war are not fairly comparable with those of France. Nor has Russia been left to bear the war burden alone. Japan has helped with munitions. The United States has rendered aid in transportation. Russian credits have been allowed by the United States
to the amount of nearly $200,000, 000 and almost as much again will be allowed. The Kerensky interview has caused no hesitation in Washington. The United States still believes in Russia and will continue to give all possible aid. All that is asked of Russia now is to keep the German army on that front too

occupied to render aid elsewhere.

THEN, AND NOW.

"Twain in the past we used to dine,
And my shoes dinners. Weren't they fine?"
Then to the table smoking hot,
The pork and kine came from the pot.
Or else the choicest bits in town
Baked in the oven crisp and brown;
And oh, the flaky-crustied pies,
The sweetest cakes of goodly size,
The cubes of sugar in the bowl
Gave joy unto the very soul.
Ay, in those days we lived to eat,
And pounds consumed of bread and meat.
We deftly plied the knife and fork,
From champagne bottles pulled the cork.

Those times are gone. Those good
old times,
And now we pinch and squeeze our
dimes,
And yet we think it worth the while
To still live on, and wear a smile.
Beneath Old Glory's shining folds,
That for us all a treasure holds,
And know our boys who foemen
press.

No hunger feel, nor scant their mess,
They fight for us and love of God,
And so we'll bear the chastening rod
And ship the lads our pork and kine,
Then Hooverize instead of dine.
—S. A. Hughes.

NO COMPARISON.

In the southern part of the state
is a city where they say there has been too much politics, a city that has been disgraced and discredited, financially and morally, where vice
and booze and brutality were supreme for a time. The "politics" referred to was not entirely of the partisan variety, the policies of the state or of the nation do not seem to have been involved in any way. It was non-partisan politics. Adherents of both Republican and Democratic parties were, or seem to have been, interested in one idea, to appropriate and divide every dollar that could be squeezed from the city or its citizens
in a pleasant non-partisan way and they were very successful, from their standpoint for years. Many graduated into wealthy and influential citizens as a result of the squeeze.
Some even became reformers after
a sufficient number of "good years,"
and the reason why these so-called politicians waxed fat and the municipality suffered is not a mystery. The honest residents and voters of the place were too indolent and indifferent to make a resolute attempt to induce the right kind of men to become candidates for city offices, or if they did at times would not give their officials loyal support after they were elected.

Men that would have made efficient municipal officers lacked the courage to assume place as "servants
of the people" thru fear, almost
a certainty, that the aforesaid people would soon turn on them, that they would be "lamb led to the slaughter."
sacrificed to the indifference
support of the voters who must be relied on for support. The city with the unsavory record at the end of the big bridge is not the only one in the state where citizen voters fail to support even good men they elect to preside over their municipal affairs.
It is to be hoped that a change
from the aldermanic to the commission form of government will cure
all of the so-called political ills in that city on the banks of the muddy river. Or will it be as in a city of culture like our own, where we elect men by large majorities to conduct the affairs of the city. The voters knew the revenues of the city were greatly decreased by a vote of a majority. They knew that there were outstanding over due bonds unpaid,
bonds held by institutions and people
who had purchased them in good faith. They knew that the men they elected were in no way responsible for the lack of funds. Yet when these commissioners asked the people who elected them to vote an issue of bonds they were promptly and decisively refused, and Mr. Good Citizen, with a grin, said, "We elected you to run the city and free it
from debt, go to it, its up to you commissioners." The city of Jacksonville is now defendant in a number of suits to compel it to pay these outstanding bonds. Is not the average citizen happier when he can simply unload the burden of government on the shoulders of some one else, and is there much encouragement for men who endeavor to accomplish something to be candidates
for office, even if the office carries with it a good salary? Of course it would be wicked to hint at a comparison with the misguided ruler the educational center under the commission form. "Comparisons are odorous." One allows innocent people to be murdered, and the other
refuses to pay bonds in the hands of innocent holders. There are degrees in crime. And are not the intelligent voters, the citizenship of a
city, equally as guilty of negligence,
or worse, as the men they elect to preside over their affairs?

But of course "doing" a man or men out of fifteen or twenty thousand dollars is not a serious matter,
that is, not serious enough to disturb the average self satisfied voter.

REASONS FOR REGISTERING.

Next Wednesday is registration day for women. If you are wondering why you have been called upon to register here are some of the reasons.

Because, in England, in the first
two years of the war, over one million women were needed to replace
men in industrial positions, making
over 3,000,000 engaged in gainful occupations.

Because, in the same length of time, a tremendous force of volunteers was needed to cook for the workers, to care for their children
during the day, and to take their places in the factories at week-ends,

that the work might go on but the
workers have one day of rest.

Because, the United States—which already has taken a million men out of industrial, professional and civic life, and with succeeding drafts will take millions more—will have similar emergencies to meet, and when they come needs to have a record
of women willing to do the work
required, either as paid or volunteer workers.

Because, all charitable agencies
need a large force of volunteer workers to help with the big increase in relief, investigative, and protective
work arising from war conditions.

Because, if you have any trained ability, there is a place you could be used—Now for the benefit of your community.

Because, if you have even half a day a week to spare, there is a bit
of work calling to you—now.

Because, our boys are fighting for us in the trenches, and we should fight for them at home.

Because, this is a Government
Census, and whether or not you are able to offer or perform any service, it should include you!

HAIG.
We hear a lot of other men who've
done artistic fighting, but Haig,
who's won, again, again, is unknown at this writing. He doesn't hand our Haigish news to eager-eyed reporters, nor yet submit to interviews where his name is called
"feature" gent, or leave his post forsaken, to face a kodak in a tent and have his picture taken. I know not if he's short or tall. I've never seen his photo; but whether he is large or small, he's getting William's goat, oh! Some colonels view the hall of fame and think it El Dorado.
But he who plays the mighty game
is always in the shadow. I know not how he wears his beard, or who may be his tailor, but more and more his strokes are feared, and William's growing paler. I've seen no pictures of his wife, or of his sons and daughters, or of his ancient home in Pife, beside some storied waters. The grandstand looks for him in vain, no gallery has known him, but when the Prussians
plant their slain, they cuss him and bemoan him. With him there's no
such word as can't, no obstacles affrighting; great man! like our own
Grant, he fights and keeps on fighting.

COUNCIL OF DEFENSE
PLANS INSTRUCTION

Various Branches of Importance in Present Crisis Will Be Taken Up—
Express Appreciation to Teachers and Pupils for Posters and Nautilus Board.

The local Council of Defense board
met with the chairman Saturday evening and a great deal of work was outlined for the near future.

The chairman of the courses of instruction announced that arrangements had been made for courses in reading Braille at the School for the Blind. A course in telegraphy also has been arranged providing the pupils will agree to give three hours
each day to the work. A course in stenography at the night school at Brown's Business college also is planned. In the Red Cross work a lecture is being arranged in dialec-
tics, first aid and surgical dressings.

The chairman of the conservation committee reported that the work of signing the Hoover pledge cards was progressing and would practically be completed in a few days. This is due to the interest being taken in the work by the school children. It is the intention however, to have cards
at all of the registration places on Nov. 7 so that women who have not previously signed them may do so.

The chairman on registration reported that plans were progressing
for registration work in Jacksonville and surrounding towns. The following towns will hold their registration
in connection with the election on Nov. 6: Alexander, Arcadia, Litter-
berry, Concord, Lynnville, Markham, Mercedosa, Murrayville, Pisgah, Prentice,
Sinclair and Woodson.

A vote of thanks was given Miss Silbert, art teacher, and teachers and pupils of the public schools for their work in making the posters. The members of the editorial staff of the high school Nautilus also were extended a vote of thanks for the conservation number.

BOARD HAS MANY
EXEMPTED MEN WORRIED

Number of Registrants, Previously Discharged from Service Receive
Notices to Appear at Exemption
Office.

The local exemption board yesterday received official notification of the enlistment of three Morgan county men. The following were certified as being in the government service: Harold McGinnis of Jacksonville, enlisted in Ret Signal Corps,
Unassigned, Jefferson Barracks; Earl
J. Reed, of Jacksonville, enlisted in navy at Philadelphia and A. J. Megginson of Woodson, enlisted in U. S.
navy at Peoria.

George W. Robinson, one of the 150 men called for the physical examination in the last call by the local board, was yesterday re-examined and pronounced physically O. K.

Many of the men passed upon by the board, who had previously received discharges from the service on industrial grounds, or on account of physical disability, or because of dependents, have been considerably
agitated of late, during the past three or four weeks, on account of receiving notices to appear before the local exemption board at various specified times. These notices have been mailed out the last few weeks
on instructions from the surgeon
general to get men to appear for x-ray work. It is necessary for the local board to secure 150 x-ray pictures of the throats and teeth of as many registered men from Morgan county. It is probable that every county board has had the same request. These pictures will be used by the surgeon general and his staff
for use in medical research work.
Dr. H. A. Chapin is doing this work
for the board free of charge.

AN APPRECIATION
OF DR. HANLEY

(By a Layman)
During the past half century Jacksonville has been visited by a number of evangelists, Hammond, Harris-
son, Culpepper, Chapman and others
including the renowned Billy Sunday, but none ever left with a more savory reputation and cordial good will than Dr. Hanley. Rarely does a man possess such a wonderful variety of characteristics. He is in deep earnest for the salvation of souls and at the same time
totally lacks any air or manner
which would at all designate him
as a pious sentimentalist but is especially a man among men, or as the great apostle put it in the right way, all things to all men. He makes an audience laugh at a banquet,
weep at a funeral, cheer at a patriotic meeting and listen earnestly when he points the way to eternal life.
Without being loose or easy going
he is at the same time possessed
with common sense regarding amusements, Sunday observance and the like and his words on these subjects
will not soon be forgotten. No wonder that of the 66 chautauquas that had him sixty-seven years ago, he is a drawing card every time. He will ever be remembered most kindly by all who know him and have met him
during his stay here. Many will regret that tonight will end the meetings and all will regret that greater results have not followed them but whatever may be lacking no blame
may rightfully be attached to Dr.
Hanley or his assistants. May he be spared for many years to do good.

GEORGE EDDY'S VIVID STORY OF THE WAR

Y. M. C. A. Worker Here From European Battle Line Tells What War Means—Pershing Strongly Approves Y. M. C. A. Program.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Horror, pathos, the chill of death and the light of hope, how men die in battle and dying become as children—thus was told here today the story of the way of war.

George Sherwood Eddy, associate general secretary, international committee, Young Men's Christian Association, secretary for Asia, formerly secretary for India, who for 20 years has labored for the association in the Orient and who a few days ago ended a tour of the bloody belt of Europe, told the story as it will be retold many times during the campaign of the association to obtain $3,000,000 in Illinois as a part of the $25,000,000 fund sought in the United States for the welfare of the allied armies all over the world. Y. M. C. A. war work week will begin here November 11 and end November 18, it was announced here today at the Illinois headquarters of the war work council.

Sound of the Big Guns

Simply yet with whelming power Eddy told of the welter which is France and Belgium. "None can ever forget the sound of the big guns," he declared dramatically. "When Pershing's first contingent came to France the artillery action could be heard in England more than 130 miles away."

Then his narrative progressed to the battle of the Somme. "A little creek dyed red with the blood of men where Britain lost 20,000 soldiers daily for 10 days and where remained not a blade of grass nor a leaf nor anything of that which was beautiful and good." But of crosses there were very many, thousands of them without name but each with a nimbus of glory.

On the Somme it was that a soldier from Chicago, a boy, told Eddy how he and his pals went over the top. "It was 2 o'clock in the morning," the boy said, "when we were ordered to attack. We were all a tremble but we weren't afraid." Over the top the boy and his mates went. Through a hail of hell—bullet and bomb and shell—they charged. "I heard my pal cry 'Fred' as he fell dead," said the boy from Chicago. "Then Bill—he fell too. 'Fred,' he moaned as I held his hand, 'Fred,' will you kiss me just once—so long," he said then crumpled up dead. The red rage of battle then gripped the boy from Chicago. "I killed 20 Germans," he told Eddy. "That night near dawn on the Somme."

Soldiers of the United States are paid more than those of any other nation at war, asserted Eddy. "A private receives more than a Russian colonel," he declared. "And they receive the best of care. But it is to the Y. M. C. A. they come when they want calm and quiet and the things that remind them of home and give them cheer."

The dangers of Paris That gas clouds and shrapnel are not the worst of the perils at the front was asserted by the speaker.

"Thousands of harpies in Paris particularly," he said, "constitute as great a menace as any on the battle field. They lie for the soldier of the United States because he has more money than any other." It is the Y. M. C. A., its concerts, lectures, theatricals, athleticism and manly moralities that saves Sammie from himself, Eddy maintained. "Yet despite every precaution and restriction hundreds of thousands of the soldiers of the allies are disabled by social diseases," said he.

How necessary to ultimate victory is the work of the Y. M. C. A. was made known to Eddy when General "Black Jack" Pershing told him that "If I don't win a battle I must see to it that my men have the Y. M. C. A." In almost every town, back of the battle line in France especially, is a Y. M. C. A. hut, said Eddy. Nearby usually are saloons, sometimes as many as twenty. "But most of our boys come to the Y. M. C. A. hut when off duty," asserted Eddy, "where they play, box, wrestle and write letters to folks and sweethearts at home." More than 20 tons of stationery, 20,000,000 sheets, have been sent annually since the beginning of the war from Y. M. C. A. depots in London and Paris to the soldiers in the trenches.

Y. M. C. A. Triangle The boys on the field look on the red triangle of the Y. M. C. A. much as they do the Red Cross," said Eddy. "They know the red triangle stands for body, mind and spirit, that it ministers to the physical, mental and moral needs of men." The Young Men's Christian Association, declared he, is responsible for the welfare of more than 24,000,000 men at war and for more than 6,000,000 prisoners. "The United States spends $150 for the kit of each soldier," he said, "and surely that soldier's soul is worth far more."

France, the speaker held, is in a critical condition. More than 400,000 of her boys and men are under the sod. "The greatest immediate need of France," said General Pershing to Eddy, "in the welfare work of the Y. M. C. A." General Petain, savior of France, has requested the Young Men's Christian Association to establish 1,000 huts in as many places behind his lines. Prince Borghesi of Italy has asked for almost as many; Russia too has appealed to the Red Triangle.

The Y. M. C. A. is the only organization, its men alone are permitted to enter the prison camps in Germany," said Eddy. "The red triangle knows neither boundary nor breed—nor race nor creed. Its service to the 2,500,000 soldiers of the United States in France next spring will be vital." The coming winter, the succeeding six months, Eddy predicted, would be the most destructive, the most terrible of the war.

KOST ACCEPTS POSITION WITH RIDGELY NATIONAL

Will Leave Elliott State Bank This Month—New Position Distinct Promotion.

Byron D. Kost Saturday accepted an offer tendered him by the Ridgely National Bank of Springfield and resigned his place with the Elliott State Bank of this city. Mr. Kost has been a resident of Jacksonville for the past six years, all of that time, practically, being with the Elliott institution, coming here from Dixon, Ill., where his parents reside. Mr. Kost in his capacity with the local bank has spent the greater part of his employment on the books. In Springfield he will have charge of the draft business in the Ridgely Bank.

Inasmuch as the new position carries with it a higher standard of work and added responsibilities it comes as a very distinct promotion for the young man. It is also worthy of note that the proffer of the Springfield people came to the Jacksonville man without solicitation upon his part. Mr. Kost expects to take up his duties in Springfield about Nov. 20th. The young gentleman has always been popular in Jacksonville with the younger society set as well as in business circles and has many friends in the city who will be glad to hear of his connection with the Ridgely National yet who will regret his loss as a Jacksonville resident.

ATTENDED BANQUET IN HONOR OF DR. BILLINGS

Dr. Carl E. Black of This City Had Seat at Speakers Table—Banquet
Given at Auditorium—Governor
Lowden and Russian Ambassador
Among the Speakers.

Dr. and Mrs. Carl E. Black returned Friday morning from Chicago
where they attended a Testimonial Banquet in honor of Dr. Frank Billings of Chicago, who was chief of the American Red Cross Mission to Russia. The banquet was at the Auditorium Hotel and nearly twelve hundred sat down to dinner and many who would have been glad to attend could not be accommodated.

By special invitation Dr. Black occupied a seat at the speakers table.
Dr. Billings has recently returned from Russia and this was his first public utterance regarding the Great World Problem. His report is one of the most important which has been made to this government. The speaker expressed full confidence in the Russian people and believes they will achieve democracy.

They are thoroughly in earnest
and are not as much disturbed as reported. He spoke highly of Mr. Kerensky and believes that he is a real leader, with the most exalted motives, and is willing to lay down his life for Russia if need be. He also that he is in full sympathy with the cause of the allies and will do everything possible to have his country
continue to do her full duty against the common enemy.

Among the speakers was Governor Frank O. Lowden who presented a beautiful loving cup to Mr. Billings in behalf of the Physicians Club under whose auspices the banquet was given. The Russian ambassador was present and made a brief speech.

A day off with a gun, a dog
and plenty of game will do you good. Brady Bros. have everything to complete your outfit.

PLANING MILL EMPLOYEE LOSES SEVERAL FINGERS

Frank Barber, an Employee of Craw-
ford's Planing Mill Gets Hand
Caught in Saw—Thumb and Little
Finger Cut Entirely Off—Effort
Being Made to Save Index and Ring Finger—Injured Man at Passavant Hospital.

Frank Barber, an employee of the Crawford Planing mill had his left hand badly mangled by a rotary saw
about 11 o'clock Saturday morning.
The thumb and little finger were entirely severed from the hand. The index finger was cut off back of the knuckle joint and the third or ring
finger was cut off at the palm of the hand.

Dr. A. M. King was called and borrowed the police automobile and rushed Barber to Passavant hospital
where he was given surgical attention. The index and third finger were hanging by a few shreds of flesh and Dr. King drew the injured
members together and will endeavor to save them. There seems little hope, however, and it is probable that Barber will lose all of the fingers of the left hand except the middle finger.

Barber was engaged in cleaning a box under a rotary saw when the accident occurred. The box is built below the saw to catch the sawdust.
Barber had removed the top from the box and reached inside to take out the sawdust without stopping the saw. He had on a cotton glove and the glove became entangled in the saw and in an instant Barber's hand was drawn against it and mangled. Barber is a married man and resides at 1921 North Diamond street.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES

On Friday morning at the regular Chapel service it was announced that the faculty and students of Illinois Woman's College had successfully raised the amount which had been apportioned to the school for the war work of the Y. M. C. A. The committee from the college that attended the conference at Chicago recently brought back to the students and faculty the suggestion that the share for Illinois Woman's College should be at least $800. However, this estimate was raised and the goal set at $1,000 by the faculty and students. The campaign to raise this money in the college began Wednesday, October 24th. The money was secured through self sacrifice and going without a great many things to which a great many of the students had been accustomed. The announcement in Friday morning's Chapel that the fund had been successfully completed was the cause of quite a celebration, as all of the students and faculty have entered heartily and enthusiastically into the campaign, and it shows very conclusively the spirit of loyalty and cooperation with the authorities.

The fund thus raised becomes a part of the $35,000,000 that is being raised in this country to help the soldiers in the trenches, in the prison camps and in the cantonments. It will also be used in some other phases of the Christian Association work in connection with the war.

Following the announcement of the completion of the fund Miss Ellison Barnes, who is secretary of the committee for women's registration, talked to the students about the registration which is to take place next Monday. All of the students, including the day students, are to be registered at the college November 5th. Miss Barnes gave a most delightful and inspiring talk calling the attention to the various ways in which women can help win the war. The faculty have already registered. This took place last Monday, October 29th.

Miss Robertson of the Hanley-Fisher Evangelistic group was a guest at the college Friday night and talked to the students.

The classes in gymnasium work are doing nicely in all departments. The swimming classes are proving most attractive. The schedule for this part of the work is just about completed. A few minor adjustments are yet to be made regarding the work of the town students.

Professor M. V. O'Shea of the University of Wisconsin gave a delightful address to the students at the chapel service on Saturday morning. Professor O'Shea later addressed the Woman's Club of this city, at their afternoon meeting. It is through the courtesy of this organization that he came to the college.

There is an exhibition of Food Conservation posters under the auspices of the Library of the College. The Library has just received a gift of valuable books and magazines from Misses Anna and Mary Kellogg of Tremont, Illinois. These books and magazines are highly prized and will be of great value to the work done in the Library. Many friends can give good books who can not do anything else, and these are always greatly appreciated.

The work in the expression department has been unusually heavy this year. The largest registration in class and private work makes the department work most interesting. Another one of the delightful private recitals will be given in the next few days.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES

The Sixth Annual Report of the Illinois College Alumni Fund Association was recently published, and has been sent to all alumni and former students. It is as usual a very interesting document. The Association shows a notable gain of 112 members during the year, and total subscriptions for the year amounting to $3,588. Of the 69 classes, of which one or more members are living, 60 are represented in the fund. Five additional memorial memberships were established during the year. These include memberships for James H. Blodgett, '53, Edward P. Kirby, '54, James McLaughlin, '57, William M. Potts, '57 and George L. Merrill, '58. A special appeal is made for the Illinois College Soldiers' Fund. This fund is being raised in order to take care of the membership dues for those alumni and former students who are in the service.

Mr. Hugh M. Wilson, '87, of New York City, a member of the Board of Trustees of the College, is visiting his brother Attorney W. T. Wilson.

President Rammelkamp was a visitor at Camp Grant recently. He went there especially to observe the work which is being done by the Army Y. M. C. A. While in camp he visited Captain W. T. Harmon, '07 and Major Joseph A. Capps, '91. Major Capps is in charge of the medical service at the base hospital. Another Illinois College man, Lieutenant Fred Stewart, ex '16, well-known in football fame, is also at Camp Grant in a machine gun company. This seems an unusually good record for Illinois College men in one campaign.

The Student Intercollegiate Oratorical contest will be held in Jacksonville on Friday, November 9th under the auspices of the Oratorical Association of Illinois College. The contest will be given in Westminster Church. Some of the best Colleges in the state, including Knox and Monmouth are members of this association, and the contest will probably be of a very high order. The representative of Illinois will be J. Bryan Underwood, '19.

Mr. O. B. Williams, '06, of Quincy, was a visitor on the campus recently. Mr. Williams is now in business with his father.

Miss Miriam Akers who went to her home in St. Louis about a week ago on account of illness is expected to return to the campus for her class duties on Monday.

The Devotional meeting at Academy Hall Sunday evening will be led by Paul Watkins, '18. His subject will be "Are You a Yes-But

Just received; new and choice designs in Sheffield plate. Schram & Buhrman.

JACKSONVILLE LOST TO WAVERLY HIGH

Final Score 13 to 0 in Favor of Waverly—Waverly Relied On Straight Football—Jacksonville Good At Forward Passes But Lacked the "Punch".

Jacksonville high school went down to defeat before Waverly High at Waverly Saturday afternoon by a score of 13 to 0. The teams were evenly matched and no scoring was done in the first two periods.

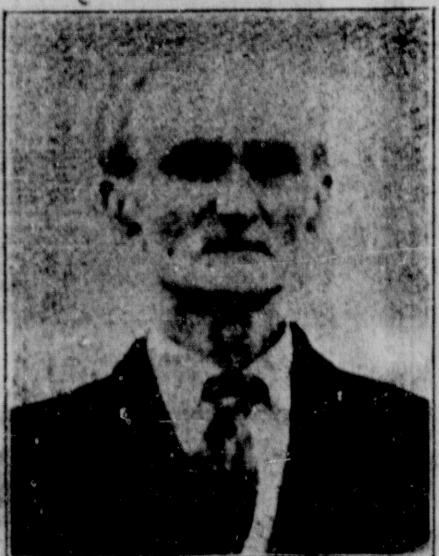

In the third period Waverly got her back field to working and by a series of line plunges and end runs carried the ball down the field for a touchdown and kicked goal. The second touchdown came in the fourth quarter in the last four minutes of play. Jacksonville had the ball on her own 20 yard line and attempted a forward pass which Waverly intercepted. It did not take Waverly long to crash thru for a second touchdown but goal was missed.

Waverly confined her attack principally to straight football and had the punch to put the ball over in the pinch. Jacksonville relied on the forward pass and completed a number of them. However, she did not seem to be able to get the ball over. Waverly's backfield and ends played a fine game. On the defense the Waverly ends were in every play and Jacksonville was unable to skirt the wing positions with success.

Jacksonville tried hard to tie the score in the fourth quarter but could not get to going long enough at a time to get the ball within striking distance. All of the men played good hard football and came out of the contest in good shape, the only damage being a few black eyes. The lineup:

ILLINOIS AND CHICAGO PLAY SCORELESS TIE

Fumble By Downstate Team On the Three Yard Line Probably Kept Them from Scoring—Contest Hard Fought.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Turned back by a fumble on the three yard line the University of Illinois football team could do no better than a scoreless tie in its game with the University of Chicago eleven here today. The result grouped these two teams with the Ohio State as the only undefeated aggregations in the "big ten" conference, Michigan's schedule giving that eleven no chance at the 1917 title.

Outside of the chance lost by the fatal fumble, the Illini had two chances to score goals from the field, using place kick formations. The first was from a difficult angle on the 37 yard line and the ball went under the bar. The second, from five yards nearer, was partially blocked and went wide.

Chicago's only chance to score came in the third period when the Maroons had a first down on the 23-yard line. Three attempts at the line made five yards and Block then tried a drop kick. He had plenty of time but shot the ball to the left of the uprights.

Wisconsin, 10; Minnesota, 7.
Madison, Wis., Nov. 3.—Minnesota was eliminated from the "big ten" football championship race today when Wisconsin scored a 10 to 7 victory in the biggest up-set of the season. It was Wisconsin's first triumph in five years over its traditional foe. Brilliant execution of forward passes enabled Wisconsin to score the victory. Elmer Simpson of Oshkosh, Wis., a 165 pound quarterback, hurled twenty-five passes and ten of them netted gains totalling 138 yards. Fifteen were incomplete.

Simpson was directly the cause of the defeat of Minnesota. He started the scoring in the first period when he booted a drop kick squarely between the Minnesota goal from the 30 yard line, giving Wisconsin a lead of three points. Near the close of the third period he shot a forward pass to Weston, who caught the ball on Minnesota's goal and fell over the line for a touchdown. Simpson booted the goal from a difficult angle.

Minnesota's only score was the result of a touchdown in the first period. Arntson, the Gopher quarterback, smashed his way thru the line on a two yard plunge. Hauser kicked goal.

WHAT DO "CUSHY" AND "BLIGHTY" MEAN?

Questions Asked Yesterday at the Public Library.

In the second series of Hankey's book "Students in Arms," this sentence occurs:

"I suppose there are very few officers or men who have been at the front for any length of time who would not be secretly, if not openly, relieved and delighted if they got a 'cushy' one and found themselves en route for 'Blighty'; yet in many ways soldiering at the front is infinitely preferable to soldiering at home."

Exactly what the meaning of 'cushy' and 'blighty' was from the book or from the dictionaries in the library it did not seem possible to determine; but one of the girls at the library found from the names given in "Tommy's Dictionary of the Trenches," printed in the back of Empey's "Over the Top" both terms.

"Cushy" is easy or comfortable. "Blighty" is an East Indian term meaning over the seas. Tommy has adopted it as a synonym for home. A wound serious enough to send Tommy to England is a "blighty one."

NEW BOOKS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The following list of books have been cataloged this week at the Public Library:

Italy and the War.

Bainville—Italy and the War. "We have endeavored, in this book to show Italy as the war has revealed her. We also have sought to present the profounder motives of her intervention; motives which rule her political future." Preface.

Powell—Italy at war and the Allies in the West. Mr. Powell describes his visit to the various fronts of the Allied armies. In the first half of the book he tells of Italy's interesting warfare especially among the mountains. In the last half he visits the Russians in Champagne and the British army in the west and the Belgians on the Yser. More descriptive of actual fighting conditions and less of a political interpretation than Bainville's book.—A. L. A. Bkl.

TO RESIST THE ATTACK

of the germs of many diseases such as Grip, Malaria, means for all us—light or die. These germs are everywhere in the air we breathe. The odds are in favor of the blood impure.

What is needed most is an increase in the germ-fighting strength. To do this successfully you need to put on healthy flesh, raise the liver to vigorous action, so it will throw off these germs, and purify the blood so that there will be no weak spots, or soil for germ-growth.

We claim for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery that it does all this in a way peculiar to itself.

It cures troubles caused by torpid liver or impure blood.

QUINCY, ILL.—Some years ago I moved to Colorado and the climate did not agree with me. I got all run-down, could not sleep, I became very thin and weak. My blood was also in very bad condition. I sent to the drugstore for some medicine and he sent me Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it soon restored me to health and strength.—Mrs. A. E. GREEN, 83 S. Sixth Street.

BRECHER, ILL.—Eight years ago I had bronchitis very bad, but I took Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and was cured in a few months. Two years ago I had a bad cough. I again took the "Discovery" and was cured in a short time. I am always going to keep it on hand for it has saved my life. If it had not been for this medicine I believe I would be in my grave.—Mrs. HERMAN BRECHER, Route 2, Box 5.

QUINCY, ILL.—About five years ago this spring I had a very bad attack of the Grip. I doctored to rid myself of it but it seemed as though it would hang on forever. I had read of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and decided to give it a trial. It helped me right from the start, and four bottles made a new man out of me. Recently I became ill with another attack of Grip and I took the "Discovery" with the same good results. I do not hesitate to recommend it.—G. C. WILLIAMS, 502 N. 11th Street.

EAT WITHOUT FEAR OF INDIGESTION OR SOUR, ACID STOMACH

Instant Relief! "Pape's Diapepsin" Ends Your Stomach Distress. Try It!

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother; if sick, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented and turned sour; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin to help neutralize acidity and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have dyspepsia. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach sweetened and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it stops fermentation and acidity and sets things straight so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.—Adv.

LITERBERRY MAN LIKES CAMP TAYLOR

Charles Davis Tells of Camp Life—Its Work and Amusements.

Camp Taylor, Oct. 29, Louisville, Ky.

I will try and write you a few lines to let you know I am alright. It is raining outside now, some of the boys are in the other room playing the piano and having a good time. I have been in there but I don't want to write and let you know I am getting along fine. I feel better than I ever did. I don't get up until 5:30 o'clock in the morning. The first thing after we get up is to go out and line up for roll call, then we have breakfast and after breakfast we make our beds and then we don't have anything to do until 8 o'clock. At 8 o'clock we go for a hike, have exercise just before dinner, after dinner we drill a little and have a lecture or two and before supper we have retreat that is when 900 of us line up for the flag to be lowered.

Another boy and I went up to Louisville yesterday and went to a Methodist church. They invited us in. We went in a room of the church where they played the piano. The people are awfully friendly. I will give you a little outline of what clothes I have. I have 2 pair pants, 2 coats, 2 suits of heavy underwear, 2 pair shoes, 1 pair leggings, 1 hat, 1 overcoat, a raincoat, and two pair gloves. We keep getting things all the time. I think I have about all I will get for awhile if I need anything else, I will buy it.

Our company is being split up. Some of the boys were transferred to the Base Hospital, we hated to be split up. Most of my best friends are still with me, but some of us are expecting to be changed again most any time. The other boys are not far from us but we had rather be together.

We are all having a good time. We had a banquet the other night, we sure had a fine time. I received my nuts alright. Fred German and I went out on a hillside among the rocks this morning and cracked them, they were certainly fine.

I went up to Louisville Saturday night and had a good time. Louisville is some town, I like it fine.

We have several mules and horses to care for, but I haven't worked any with them yet. We get more lecture than anything else, we do not have to drill very much I was on room duty pretty often as there were thirty-five transferred from our Co. to the base hospital. I just as soon stay where I am as I think it is pretty hard to beat.

We have moving pictures at the "Y" nearly every night I always try to go as you know I like movies. They are going to have an entertainment for the Illinois boys before long.

I guess it is about time for me to close for this time.

With love to all,
Charles F. Davis,

NEW YORK POLITICAL SITUATION IN DOUBT

Keen Interest Felt in Result of Mayoralty Campaign—Many Elements Contribute to Uncertainty of Outcome.

New York, Nov. 3.—A large question mark symbolizes the political situation in New York city with the near approach of the close of the municipal campaign, and the answer of the voters to the inquiry who will be mayor, which is to be made at the election next Tuesday, is awaited with an interest surpassing that felt in the metropolis in many years.

There are several elements in the contest which make it impossible to forecast the result with any degree of certainty. Chief among these is the fact that there are four candidates in the running, with three of them to divide the Republican and Democratic votes in relative proportions that will not be known until after the ballots are counted. The fourth candidate, Morris Hillquit, is expected to receive the solid support of the Socialist party, which may prove to be far from a negligible quantity in determining the contest.

P. Mitchell, Democrat, who had filled many of the important offices previously, and who was nominated on a fusion ticket in 1913 to succeed William J. Gaynor, and elected by a tremendous majority, is again, by grace of appointment by a Citizens Committee of Two Hundred and Fifty, a fusion candidate.

Not to be outdone in respect to combination of civic organizations and civic virtues in behalf of its prospective candidate, Tammany also decided this year to try its hand at fusion. In accordance with this decision, Leader Murphy invited various independent political groups to go into conference with him. The idea was to prove that there were good citizens on one side as well as on the other, and that those on the Tammany side, with a view to the welfare of the city, were determined to overthrow Mayor Mitchell.

A Surprise to Tammany
The influence of Brooklyn leaders proved sufficiently strong in the conference to secure the choice of County Judge John F. Hylan as the Democratic candidate for the mayoralty. Judge Hylan came to Tammany not only as a surprise, but as something of a shock. He was scarcely known to the rank and file of Mr. Murphy's followers. But after having inaugurated the fusion movement, Leader Murphy and the Tammany organization had to take what the fusion convention gave them.

The third candidate and one of the most important factors in the contest is William M. Bennett, who surprised the politicians all along the line by defeating Mayor Mitchell for the Republican nomination. A native of Nashville, Tenn., Mr. Bennett came to the metropolis some years ago and soon established his reputation as a lawyer of ability and an aggressive politician. He made his first entrance into office-holding in 1907, when he was elected to the New York assembly. He gave Governor Hughes support in his fight for direct primaries and later became known as a Progressive. As such he joined the Roosevelt forces in 1914, and was elected to the state senate as a Progressive Republican. He opposed Mr. Whitman for the gubernatorial nomination, and was defeated. As a candidate for the mayoralty in the Republican primaries, in which Mayor Mitchell was also a candidate, Mr. Bennett polled the largest vote.

The question of party "regularity" is likely to prove the deciding factor in the contest. Although Mayor Mitchell is a fusion candidate, and although thousands of Republicans have developed a strong liking for him, he is essentially a Democrat. On the other hand, Mr. Bennett is a Republican, and the choice of the Republican primary. The Tammany campaign efforts are being directed toward holding the parties to "regularity," and thereby splitting the fusionists.

According to the Tammany figures Judge Hylan will win by a plurality exceeding 175,000, and Mayor Mitchell will run fourth in the race. According to the same estimate, Morris Hillquit, the Socialist candidate, will get second place.

In the last mayoralty election in New York the vote stood: Mitchell, Fusion, 358,181; McCull, Democrat, 233,919; Russell, Socialist, 32,057; Walter, Socialist-Labor, 1,547; Raymond, Prohibitionist, 1,213. There was no Republican in the field then. The Republican in the field now is considered the most doubtful factor in the equation.

MEETING OF THE MONUMENT ASSOCIATION
The Morgan County Monument Association met yesterday morning in regular session. All properly approved bills were ordered paid. President C. E. McDougall and secretary C. H. Rammelkamp, reported that they had been to Springfield to call on the state architect to whom the plans for the monument have been submitted. They found the gentleman very busy. He had the plans laid out before him and proceeded to comply with the request of the association to give them a careful examination just as soon as possible. He spoke in very high terms of praise of the design and was much pleased with it.

ONE OF COUNTY'S LEADING FARMERS

Fred R. Watson of Lynville Neighborhood Has Been Successful in Farming—Is Successful Hog Breeder—Comes from one of Early Families.

Situated just east of Lynville is the pleasant home of F. R. Watson, one of the thrifty, well-to-do farmers of Morgan county. His father was born on the same place and his grandfather, Richard Watson, moved to this country from Yorkshire, England, when a young man. The grandfather was born in 1811 and lived to a good old age. Mr. Watson's brothers are George W. of New York city and Ben of St. Louis and both are connected with the Corland Roofing Co. His sister, Anna, Mrs. Frank Masters, lives in Sand Point, Idaho, and a sister, Miss Catharine, is attending a university in New York after teaching for some years.

Mr. Watson's wife was Miss Besie Connor of Pike County, near Perry, and she was well acquainted with Mrs. Bryan when the latter was Miss Mamie Baird. His children are Charles, Paul, Clyde, Mildred and Fern and he is well fixed to live.

All about the place is a condition of neatness and thrift most pleasant to see. Mr. Watson believes that cleanliness is next to Godliness and has everything about his place in the same condition. No tumble down fences, leaning structures and rotting fences are to be seen while his vehicles and implements are all carefully housed for he finds that plan cheaper than to let his property stand out in the weather to rust and rot and be expensively replaced with new.

Mr. Watson's specialty is Holstein cows which he raises for the market. His cattle are eligible to registry though he has never tried to belong to any thoroughbred organization but he produces the real goods. He sells his heifers and cows at a good price yet they are the best to buy for the best is always the cheapest. He doesn't try to raise the males but takes them for beef or veal when comparatively young.

He doesn't try fancy or expensive feeding but first of all he provides good shelter for his stock for he believes that lumber is cheaper than feed and an animal exposed to the weather needs lots more to eat than one well housed. He mainly depends on the products of the farm except that he buys bran for his milk cows. He feeds forage foods, fodder, hay and straw as well as some corn and oats.

Like so many other farmers of the present day, he doesn't try to make butter but sells his cream right at home to May and Conlins who do quite a business in that line.

A Special Kind of Corn
In corn Mr. Watson has developed a kind that suits him best. It is a cross between the Reid Yellow Dent and the Leaming by which he gets a plant with stronger roots than the Yellow Dent produces and at the same time the ears are larger and contain the good properties of both breeds. The Yellow Dent he thinks rather hard for feed but the cross gets the good qualities of both and to him is very satisfactory.

He doesn't cut very much corn though cuts enough for fodder. If he owned the place on which he lives he would think well of a silo but he doesn't care to build one as things are. He tries to fill his mows with plenty of good clover hay for the cattle and timothy for the horses which answers a very good purpose.

He doesn't do a great deal with hogs but prefers the old reliable Poland China breed. He has a hog house well inclosed and keeps sows with pigs to themselves. He prefers to have his hogs farrow in March and September and according to the acres he farms he raises about as many as any other farmer about him. He likes clover for the hogs in the summer and endeavors to supply a balanced ration as nearly as possible. He markets his hogs when they are ten to twelve months old and they weigh from 225 to 250 lb.

He has an orchard of two acres but says it was neglected years ago and he doesn't try now to have it sprayed as he would had it been cared for always as it should be. There are some good kinds of fruit there and he trims the trees but doesn't spray for reasons given.

Evening Nets $44—Teachers Institute Well Attended—Other Bluffs News Notes.

Bluffs, Nov. 3.—The teachers' institute which was held at the high school building Thursday and Friday was well attended, most of the schools of the county being represented. On Thursday evening Prof. H. Ambrose Perrin gave a splendid address along the line of parent-teachers association work and results to be accomplished by such organizations. At the close of the lecture a Parent-Teachers organization was organized with Prof. R. Newcomb as chairman, who appointed the following assistants to act on the program committee, Miss Winifred Ashley, president of the Monday club, Mrs. H. C. Oakes and Mrs. E. L. Kendall, presidents of the Household Science and Woman's clubs, Royce Oakes, president of the school board, and Rev. P. A. Sorensen, pastor of the Lutheran church. This organization will hold at least one meeting each month at the high school building.

Friday afternoon the first meeting of the Scott County Athletic association was held at Lewis Opera house. The first game called was Bluffs against Manchester. Result, 20 to 23 in favor of Manchester. The second game, Bluffs vs Winchester, score 16 to 19 in favor of Winchester. Third game, Winchester and Manchester, score 12 to 37 in favor of Winchester. Winchester thus holds the championship. This is a small beginning of what is expected to result in the spread of athletics sports even into the rural schools, thereby keeping the young, especially the boys, more interested in school work.

It is a lamentable fact that the boys of our public schools are not keeping pace with the girls but are constantly dropping out even before they reach the high school. "Six Times Nine" the home talent given at Lewis opera house Friday night for the benefit of the Red Cross drew a crowd as our home talents usually do. The play was cleverly given and greatly pleased the audience. The proceeds were $44.00.

The ladies of the Lutheran church served dinner at the school laboratory Friday for the teachers. Mr. Phillips and family of Murrayville are now comfortably settled in the O. A. Woodson property recently vacated by R. H. Stone and family. The former has taken over the poultry business recently owned by E. L. Chase.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hartnady and sons who left for Denver, Colo., two months ago to reside have decided that Bluffs isn't so bad after all and after Nov. 20th, they will be at home to their friends at the G. W. Sisson property in the west part of town.

JACKSONVILLE BOY NOW AT CAMP MEADE

Praises Army Life — Is Member of
Largest Regiment in the World

Bernard A. Sheehan, formerly an employee at the Journal office, writes very interestingly of his travels, in a letter received a few days ago from Admiral, Maryland. Young Sheehan enlisted in the regular army on Labor Day last and is now a member of a medical unit stationed at Camp Meade. The letter follows:

I have had the most wonderful time that I don't hesitate to say that Grant's trip about the world could not have been more interesting to him after his already numerous travels than mine was to me. I suppose you received my card from Buffalo.

I left July 23 from Chicago. I saw a big parade, Grant Park, the art institute, Lake Michigan and Ruth Law in her aeroplane. After receiving a cordial dislike for the city I went to South Bend, where I stayed a week working at the Studebaker factories. Then I went to Toledo where I stayed for about four hours, also hating that place. Buffalo was my next stop, where I sojourned three weeks, working at the new Curtiss aeroplane factory at $3.50 per day. After three weeks I quit and went to Niagara Falls for the purpose of seeing them. They are certainly a wonderful sight. I spent an entire day wandering about Goat Island, Prospect Point and the Canadian shore. They are very egotistic. Charge you a dime to just walk across their dinky old bridge. Canadian sentries on guard over a big light plant. They were very uncivil and when a friend whom I was with crossed a sentry's path I thought I had jumped out of my shoes at the harshness of his shout to get back. By the way, my friend got. Altogether the falls are a place which no one should avoid seeing. The view from the American side is rotten but the Canadian side has a superb view.

Thence I went to Ithaca, N. Y., to see, mainly, hydroplanes, Cornell University and a friend. I did not see the planes. Ithaca is about the same size as Jacksonville, about six times as lively and one of the most beautiful places I ever saw. The falls, ravines, buildings and scenery are wonderful. Stayed there two days, then went to Springfield, Mass., where I decided to swear off traveling. Saturday before Labor Day I applied for enlistment but my eyes failed. Undaunted I rested them Sunday and Labor Day I passed. From there I was sent to Ft. Slocum, N. Y., where I was sworn in the next day. Of course I am in the regular army, in the medical corps. I tried to get in as an aeroplane mechanic but that was closed.

Fort Slocum was fine. Situated on a rocky island in Long Island Sound it is finely placed. It is very pretty and to sleep with the waves pounding the sea wall within ten feet from you is very novel. We had fine food there and wonderful shows. Of course you have heard of Mack and William? And Houdine? Well, the Wednesday night I was there they and about eight or nine of New York's star vaudeville performers did their bit with their free entertainment. It was the best I ever saw. Such acts as those do not go west as far as Illinois, not even to Chicago.

Sad to say, I stayed there only until Saturday, when with another bunch we went to Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga. As Frank Branstetter puts it in some clippings my mother sent me, we only rode in bum old day coaches. We were over forty hours. The trip was wonderful. I saw the Washington monument in the distance. Down thru Virginia and its famous Red Land, North and South Carolina with their famous pines and the beautiful Blue Ridge mountains, thru Georgia, Atlanta and finally to our camp. Our barracks were four miles from the station and we had to march it. The place is built on the battlefield of Chickamauga and the memories of the other fight are certainly rendered strong by the many monuments and slabs of iron, telling the different parts of the battle. The battlefield is interspersed with small hills and covered with timber. My comrades were from New York and Massachusetts, and when we passed the Illinois monument I said with, I think, pardonable pride, "I'm from Illinois too."

Fort Oglethorpe is a new place and there was much work to be done. The officers were fine, the weather fierce. Hot as a desert in the daytime and freezing temperature at night. We arrived Monday morning. They were unprepared for us and we did not get much to eat and by Wednesday there was certainly a discouraged bunch.

This is probably one time it happened in a thousand for we certainly do get grub and plenty. But that morning we got an order to entrain for Camp Meade. Up we went thru Tennessee to Chattanooga, past Mission Ridge and Lookout Mountain, where occurred the victory of the battle above the clouds. From what I could see on the train, not over a half mile distant. I think it would be a hard job to climb the mountain without Johnny's bullets.

East we went thru Tennessee, past the pines and Blue Ridge again, thru Virginia to Washington, and here to Camp Meade midway between Baltimore and Washington. I forgot to mention one sight I saw, never to be forgotten. This was on our trip to Ft. Oglethorpe, our journey from Ft. Slocum to Jersey City, which was by transport past New York city. We passed everything, forts, steamers, tiny tug boats, barges, large factories, small homes, immense battle-ships, torpedo boats and tiny subchasers, all the last in drab grey. I saw one sub chaser at full speed and it was some sight. The tiny boat slicing the water with two sheets of water rising from the bows in a white spray. I bet that thing could beat a Ford on land. Besides I saw the tremendous bridge, Brooklyn, Manhattan, Queens and two others. They are enormous and I don't see how they put them up. I suppose they just did it. I also saw the Woolworth and Singer buildings, together with the famous skyline. I think the chief thing to be learned from traveling is that man is powerful, the American the most powerful of men, and nature the superior of all; for no nation except the American could build New York, "make temples for office buildings" as one foreigner expressed it, nor could any man make Niagara Falls and Niagara Gorge. Have not been to Washington nor Baltimore yet but hope to soon. So much for my travels.

I am satisfied with the army. I'd like to catch the fellow who started the idea that officers are tyrants. Nothing is farther from the truth. I can prove it, too. One time I failed to recognize a general and did not salute him, and instead of giving me a lecture he asked me why I did not. Most officers, that is up to colonel, wear black and gold hat cords but he wore a gold one and I did not know it as his insignia. When he told me I saluted of course. He was very nice and as far from the civilian idea of a general as possible. Of course as our captain explained it, an officer has to be a dude because he represents the U. S. There are only twenty-eight men in our detachment and we have a fine time. We practice litter drills, infantry drills, have lectures, etc. We have real litter work, for in the transition from riotous living to regular army many fall in the change and we have to carry them to the hospital. Indigestion is the most usual failure. In the first two weeks many of my bunch were sick but so far I have not thru that cause lost a day. Our food is fine and plentiful, officers O. K. and quarters excellent. The place is all sand. They raise sweet potatoes here almost exclusively. There are fine timbers and roads such as we don't see in Illinois. Fruit is plentiful, apples and peaches especially. Weather is very queer. Yesterday it was fine, today cold and damp. But we are not bothered, we have steam heat.

The clippings sent me amuse me very much. Our detachment's duty is to stick around the firing line. Our captain was "over there" a year ago and surely gave us a good idea of what to expect. Personally I don't envy that boy in the base hospital, Branstetter, for he'll have a time. The captain said he had the nice end of it for we would loaf mostly between battles, but the base hospital man goes on forever.

Our chief joy is the Y. M. C. A. There are four here. One has a seating capacity of 3,000, which is about 6,000 or 8,000 capacity. We have shows from Baltimore and stunts from the fellows. There are several bands, so as I said I'm satisfied and sorry I did not enlist sooner.

What is the matter with Bill Eads? I wrote to him but no answer. I really felt the dismemberment of the old Fifth and think it was a shame. I know how the boys felt. Of course it was a military necessity but the sentiment attached to that proud name has been wasted. It might with advantage have been spared.

Sore arms, I've felt it three and would rather have K. D. (kitchen duty) any day. The second is the worst and I was all in. The jab does not hurt, only the after effects. John Sloan's letter was fine, too, and amusing. I am glad to know of Lieut. Russell and Capt. Harmon and Art Harmon, M. P., and all the others. I'm only a buck private. Our regiment is to be the largest in the world, 10,400.

I hope you will pardon all the mistakes of this letter and the general rambling. I am very disappointed that I have received so few letters from home friends, for letters are more important to a soldier than mess call, pay day or "company dismissed." I hope you and all my friends will write soon. I wrote to a number of them but no answer. It's about taps so I must close.

MR. HERMAN WILL BUY
A LOT OF NEW DRESSES
AND FURS WHILE IN CHICAGO
ATTENDING THE BIG
WHOLESALE COAT SALE.

THE THREE CENT STAMP
The coming back of the three cent postage stamp naturally recalls the time when New was in use before, and to light the following lines, not unmixed with some really fine thoughts from the depths of a scrap book where it has reposed for the past thirty-one years:

Good bye, old stamp, it's nasty luck
That ends our friendship so;
When others failed you gamely stuck,
But now you've got to go.

So here's a flood of honest tears,
And here's an honest sigh—
Good-bye old friend of many years—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

Your life has been a varied one,
With curious phrases fraught—
Sometimes a check, sometimes a dun,
Your daily coming brought:
Smiles to a waiting lover's face,
Tears to a mother's eye;
Or joy or pain to every place—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

You bravely toiled, and better man
Will vouch for what I say,
Although you have been licked, 'twas when
Your face turned t'other way.
'Twas often in a box you got
(As you will not deny!)
For going through the mail, I wot—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

Ah, in your last expiring breath
The tale of years is heard—
The sound of voices hushed in death;
A mother's dying word;
A maiden's answer, soft and sweet;
A wife's regretful sigh;
The patter of a baby's feet—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

What wonder, then, that at this time
When you and I must part,
I should aspire to speak in rhyme
The promptings of my heart.
Go, bid with all those memories dear
That live when others die;
You've nobly served your purpose
here—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye.

So here's a flood of honest tears,
And here's an honest sigh—
Good-bye old friend of many years—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

So here's a flood of honest tears,
And here's an honest sigh—
Good-bye old friend of many years—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

So here's a flood of honest tears,
And here's an honest sigh—
Good-bye old friend of many years—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

So here's a flood of honest tears,
And here's an honest sigh—
Good-bye old friend of many years—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

So here's a flood of honest tears,
And here's an honest sigh—
Good-bye old friend of many years—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

So here's a flood of honest tears,
And here's an honest sigh—
Good-bye old friend of many years—
Good-bye, old stamp, good-bye!

An Open Letter to the Public

The very structure of our economic system, with its foreign tributaries, is now in the throes of a virtual upheaval. The commercial Economy Board of the Council of National Defense has assumed control of the prices on wheat, coal and steel.

Now the board is engaged in efforts to conserve the wool supply of the nation. Over a year ago we predicted a wool shortage, and in a letter "To the Garment and Clothing Manufacturers of the United States," dated September 4, 1917, the Commercial Economy Board wrote, "We are facing a serious wool shortage."

To quote further from this letter: "Immediate action must be taken to assure, if possible, an adequate supply of wool for the needs of our army and navy. * * * Consequently this board recommends that, in so far as possible, cotton-mixed fabrics and fabrics containing re-worked wool should be substituted for all-wool fabrics in the manufacture of garments and clothing for civilian use."

Remember, this is the voice of the United States Government!

Furthermore, a representative of the Commercial Economy Board met with representatives of clothing manufacturers in New York on Thursday, September 27th, to force the issue, and introduce other economies in the use of wool.

Gentlemen, the facts are now before you. Nobody can tell what the future holds in store for any of us. This much we do know now: Myers Bros.' present stocks of fall and winter clothing have been made from all-wool fabrics; our buyers have run the gauntlet of rising costs with scarcely a perceptible increase on our former suit and overcoat prices. While our stocks last you have the opportunity of providing for your future clothing needs at very much less than you will have to pay later for inferior merchandise. The advantages of this foresight should be very evident to every one.

PROBLEMS OF TODAY DISCUSSED BY DR. O'SHEA

Well Known Educator Addressed Woman's Club Saturday—Questions of Training Young Easily Solved By Application of Good Sense.

At the November meeting of the Jacksonville Woman's Club held Saturday afternoon at Academy Hall, an address was made by Dr. Michael Vincent O'Shea of the University of Wisconsin. His theme was "New Times and New Problems". Mrs. Miller Weir president of the organization presided. Following a piano solo by Frank Collins Mrs. Weir called upon Mrs. David W. Reid, chairman of the health and home defense committee, to introduce the speaker of the afternoon. Mrs. Reid referred to the delightful recollection that members of the club had of Dr. O'Shea's lecture of a year ago and mentioned that the speaker had been secured again for this year in response to many urgent requests from the club membership.

Dr. O'Shea addressed himself particularly to the task of considering present day affairs in their relationship to boys and girls. There was sound logic in his reasoning and viewed in the light of his argument the conduct of the average boy unruly at times, is the most natural thing in the world, really a matter of inheritance, the expression of the customs and the actions of his forebears. In his view handling the problem of young life comes to means an understanding of the young and a willingness to so shape environment and influence that there will be a natural evolution from mere muscular power to intellect.

The Question of Decline
"Why do the young degenerate in the time of special crisis or distress?" I talked to an English gentleman recently who said, "The young people of our country are going to the dogs. The schools are degenerating, many of the teachers leaving the service to engage in Red Cross and similar war activities. It will be imperative for our government to control the young or the future will present a greater problem than does the present. The same condition exists in France. The war has produced the most unhappy effect upon the young."

Dr. O'Shea described in interesting detail a visit to the experimental garden of Luther Burbank, the plant wizard, and said the development of the spineless cactus was one of the most remarkable achievements of this wonderful man. He said "This plant has been robbed of its thorns, its leaves have been expanded and it has been made to bear a most delicious fruit. But to observe the young plant one could never believe it could ever become a member of the spineless family. Every plant first resembles its remote ancestors and by degrees these change until it resembles its immediate ancestors. The transformation is marvelous indeed. What is true of plant life is also true of animal life. Does the same principle apply to the life of the child? Most assuredly it does. The child in his development goes back in his memory to his remote ancestors, and his development is a process of repeating what has happened to his ancestors.

Struggle of Intellect and Muscle.
"In the development of the child, nature is gradually substituting intellect for the original muscular power, and as intellect develops muscular power declines. As the child grows his power of judgment increases. One of the perplexing problems of life is that the child in the beginning is merely a muscular creature, while people who have attained maturity are living intellectually. The great mistake we make is in subduing the muscular life of the child. This results in a constant state of conflict between the child and the adult. Nature says to the child 'The one thing for you to do is to store up in your mind impressions from the sense of touch.' She says to the adult, 'Your duty is to organize your experience and use your intellect.'

"I am more and more impressed with the conflict which exists between the young and the mature in modern life. The interests of the young are hostile to the interests of the mature. The latter has passed through the stage when the great necessity is motor experience and has reached the stage when the need is for intellectual life. Nature has separated by an insurmountable gulf the child, who is in a muscular stage, and the adult who is in an intellectual stage. We build our cities as the child had in intellect and judgment of the elder. We build houses without reference to the young who are to live in them. In many homes the mother spends a large part of her time in chasing the child from one place to another to prevent disaster to the furniture.

Back to the Ancestors.
"Some people think that any right minded child should have a love of cleanliness. Our remote ancestors lived by the seashore, in caves or in trees. They ignored the dirt on their bodies, and could not have lived if they had been as sensitive about these matters as we are today. The boy especially remembers this and shows it in his appearance. Our ancestors lived largely of combat. The best man was the best fighter. The boy appears to remember the time when the law of life was to fight or be destroyed, and upon the slightest disturbance back he goes to his early traits.

The boy is the heir of all this past life of struggle and combat and every normal boy lives thru this period. I was brought up to believe that any boy who fights ought to be punished but I have changed my mind about that. Unless boys can be organized and play games together it is impossible to prevent a certain amount of combat, and the chief difficulty in many cities, and even in homes is that there is no organization. These crude tendencies will show in the language if in nothing else. I have seen refined parents actually shrivel under the crude talk of their sons. Parents have difficulty in realizing that boys visit with their biceps while girls visit lingually. A boy who has not a large dog or a horse or a big brother to wrestle with, and has a tender sister or anything else tender, that tender thing is sure to suffer. This crude instinct manifests itself in bullying and teasing and the boy finds delight in making life miserable for those about him.

Transforming the Gang.
"The boy is a greater problem than the girl because the crude traits are more strongly manifested in him. The thing that distresses us is in crude tendencies of the child trying to express themselves under our refined conditions. The 'gang' is a group of boys who have found it impossible to express these instincts in hearty masculine games. I have seen gangs transformed overnight by the proper methods. I have seen them charged with all kinds of offenses and it has not reclaimed them. But give an opportunity for the instincts to be normally expressed and you overcome the difficulty.

"The language of our remote ancestors was a language of oaths. They did not have an elaborate language such as ours, but expressed themselves chiefly by ejaculations. A boy passes thru a period in his life when that type of language ministers unto the need better than any language of refinement. He is heir to that lurid and dynamic sort of language and the terms come natural to him. What is the solution of the problem? Substitution and organization. In all times this has been the tragedy—civilization has not used constructive measures, has not provided a substitute for that which was crude and undesirable. In no land is the language becoming so picturesque as in America. One can hardly keep up with the new expressions, and many are disturbed at the innovations that are coming. The reason they are coming is because we are trying to get over that other kind of language and supply in its place another kind that will not be so distressing. The vocabulary of the high school student contains thousands of new terms, all based upon the principle of trying to find some strong dynamic figure of speech to meet the need.

Must Adjust Life to Conditions.
"Our problem is to find some way by which we can adapt the individual to contemporary life fairly well—we cannot do it completely. We must not leave the child so much to himself. We are on the eve of a tremendous test in our national life, as to whether we shall hold up these constructive programs and thus solve these problems. Many communities are at work to provide ways and means for using the time and energies of the young when they are not in the classroom. Gary, Ind., is an example of what can be accomplished in this line. Unless there comes an appreciation of the need at this great crisis there may be reversion and these old instincts may get the better of an individual and our constructive program may slip away.

Only by continual effort can we meet the issue. We must constantly endeavor to adjust the young to the contemporary life and if we succeed we shall have done better than any of the other countries now at war have done. When the individual is released and finds disturbance and disorder he drops into these old instincts. We should not forget the rising generation, and whatever energy we have should be devoted to conserving the efforts which have been begun. To abandon our educational institutions would be a tragedy. We must constantly seek in an organized way to develop the school and all other agencies for drawing off the crude instincts of the young and providing a wholesome outlet for their energies."

CAMP TAYLOR MEN RAISE POST FLAG

IS MOST IMPRESSIVE EVENT
84TH DIVISION HAS YET SEEN.

Two Hundred and Fifty Picked Infantrymen, from Central Illinois, All Over Six Feet Tall, Form the Honor Guard for Flag—Gov. Lowden Arrives too Late for Ceremonies.

(By Staff Correspondent.)
Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky., Nov. 3. —Special—Twenty five thousands soldiers in mass formation standing at attention and 10,000 civilians silent and with bared heads beheld Old Glory unfurled to the breeze over Camp Taylor today as the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." The ceremonies marked the raising of the division post flag. It was the most impressive event the 84th division has yet seen.

The soldiers moved to the vicinity of the flag pole at 10 o'clock, surrounding it in three great sections. The artillerymen and the 39th Sanitary train took up their positions on the east in military array. The band was led by men from Central Illinois, two hundred and fifty picked infantrymen, all over six feet tall, armed the guard of honor for the flag.

Speeches were delivered by Major General Harry Hale and Governor A. O. Stanley of Kentucky. General Hale expressed regret that Governor Lowden, of Illinois, could not be present. Governor Lowden and his party arrived tonight.

Until now the flag of the 39th Sanitary Train, waving from a pole in front of their quarters has been the only flag flying over Camp Taylor.

THANKS FOR THOSE APPLES.
J. D. Fitzsimmons residing six miles southeast of the city generously gave Passavant hospital a fine lot of apples amounting to nearly if not quite seventy bushels and without any charge, only asking the hospital to come after them. Many thanks from the management are due the gentleman who will long be remembered. Are there not others in the county who have some apples to spare for this noble institution? If so please notify the hospital or S. W. Nichols at the Journal office and if there is reasonable quantity the hospital will come after the fruit.

CAMPAIGN FOR ADVISOR MOVES STEADILY

Fifty Additional Pledges Secured—Work of Securing Signatures Will be Resumed after Election Day.

Sidney B. Smith who as a representative of the United States Department of Agriculture has been assisting the Morgan County Farmers Club in its effort to secure a county advisor, has been working in the county the most of the past week. Weather conditions have interfered greatly with his work and his own farm interests are demanding part of his time. The following farmers, in addition to the list published a few days ago have patriotically responded to the call of the United States in its effort to increase crop production and have agreed to pay ten dollars a year for three years to establish and maintain a farm bureau with a county agent.

Henry G. Alderson, Stanfield Baldwin, W. S. Byrns, W. C. Baxter, A. H. Bartleheim, John R. Boddy, George E. Brown, O. F. Conklin, W. W. Carter, John W. Cleary, E. G. Dewees, J. P. Doan, L. S. Doane, Samuel Darley, Yuba Y. Funk, J. S. Findley, H. E. Garrison, E. O. Green, R. Y. Gibson, H. H. Hansmeyer, John Hadden, William R. Hills, Mrs. E. G. Smith, H. O. Smith, E. L. Sweet, Otto Spire, W. R. Turnbull, Allinson Thomason, Albert Wilcox, P. J. Wolfe, W. M. Wallbaum, Tom Willerton, Ivan Wood, W. G. Wolfe, A. H. Welborn, George Wood, W. L. Wells, Ruly York, W. R. Zahn, J. Bart Johnson, C. E. James, F. H. Jewbury, C. N. Kinnett, Calvin Lawson, Lloyd Luckeman, John Longman & Son, H. R. Long, James Leadell, L. B. Megginson, Roy Mawson, Chas. McLamar, J. A. Moss, S. H. McDevitt, F. M. Masters, Austin B. Patterson, Chas. E. Patterson, R. E. Phillips, R. R. Ranson, Chas. L. Reid, W. A. Reed, L. A. Reed, Mrs. Evaline Rawlings, B. F. Rawlings.

Mr. Smith will not come back into the county until after election day and then hopes to conclude his work by securing the necessary number of pledges.

At this time enough pledge cards are in sight to meet the requirements of the Federal Government but there are not enough pledges to meet the requirements of our own State and the campaign will go on until enough pledges are secured to establish a farm bureau on the right basis and to secure an experienced and well-qualified advisor.

Mr. Smith and his associates in this campaign know that there are many farmers in the county who are ready to sign but are waiting for some one to call on them to do so. Several hundred pledge cards have been sent out and cards are in all the banks in the county. It will be impossible to visit every farmer and those who want to help the movement along and get its benefits are urged to sign a card and mail it to Mr. Smith at once.

Now that a farm bureau and county agent is assured, it is important that enough subscriptions be secured to establish the work on a broad and secure basis so that our farmers and county may get the greatest possible benefit from it.
